Grand Rapids branch of the former road with the Main line. Thus trains leave in 5 different directions, making it quite a railroad center. It is 90 miles north of New Buffalo, 20 south of Grand Haven, 25 southwest of Grand Rapids, and 23 northwest of Allegan. The place was settled by a colony of Hollanders, and still this nationality largely predominates. The first settlement was made in 1846. In 1867 Holland became a city. In 1871 it was almost destroyed by fire, over 300 buildings being consumed. It has since been rebuilt, however, in a more substantial manner. Holland is the seat of Hope College, an educational enterprise supported in part by the board of education of the Reformed (Dutch) Church. The manufacturing interests include 2 large tanneries, 2 flouring mills, 2 planing mills, 1 foundry, 2 saw mills, 1 stave factory, and some artisans' shops, 3 churches, Dutch Reformed, Methodist and Episcopal, 4 newspapers, the News, De Hope, De Hollander and De Grondwet. Holland has a good natural harbor, an appropriation for the improvement of which has been made by the general government. A brisk trade is carried on in cordwood, hemlock bark, lumber, etc. Stage to Saugatuck daily. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American and United States. William Verbeek, postmaster.

HOLLY.

A flourishing village in the northeast corner of Oakland county, located at the intersection of the F. & P. M. Ry and the D. & M. R. R. It is in the township of Holly, 47 miles from Detroit and 91 from Toledo.

The country surrounding Holly produces large quantities of grain, fruits, wool, poultry etc., which find a ready market in the village and are shipped to the larger cities. The flour mills of Mr. M. Stiff, who manufactures the celebrated Holly flour, turn out from 30,000 to 40,000 barrels annually. There are also 1 furniture factory, 1 planing mill, 2 foundries and several carriage and wagon shops. Good water power is furnished by the Shiawassee river which flows through the village.

There are good public schools and four churches, Baptist, Methodist, Christian and Presbyterian. Two banks, 3 hotels and a live local paper, the Holly Register. Population about 2000. First settled in 1836. Incorporated as a village 1865. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. David Hobart, postmaster.

The Most Wonderful Discovery of the Age.

EISENBREY'S
German Cough and Lung Balsam.

This remedy has no equal in curing all diseases tending toward consumption. For coughs, colds, bronchitis, whooping cough or croup it is a sure cure. It is also a powerful Blood purifier. It cannot be surpassed in eradicating the poisons which arise from scrofulous syphilitic and all venereal diseases. The great virtue of this remedy is that it ripens the matter, throws it out of the system, purifies the blood and thus effects a cure.

Persons using it for chronic complaints should give it a thorough trial. This article is sold by all first class retail drug dealers. Manufactured by HOMER.

A thriving village of 1200 inhabitants, is located in Homer township, in the southeast corner of Calhoun county. It lies at the point of intersection of the Air Line division of the M. C. R. R., and the Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. Ry., 23 miles west of Jackson, 13 southeast of Marshall, 46 south of Lansing, 19 northwest of Hillsdale, and 99 from Detroit. Homer, owing to to its excellent railroad facilities and the fertility of the surrounding country, is a fast growing and prosperous village. Wheat and other grains are largely shipped. It is claimed that the quality of the wheat grown in the township of Homer is not excelled in the northwest. The St. Joseph and Kalamazoo rivers flow near the village, furnishing sufficient water power for 2 flouring mills and 1 saw mill. There are also 2 planing mills and 1 foundry and machine shop, run by steam. The village contains a good Union school and 3 churches—Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian. Several fine substantial buildings have been erected during the past year. The place supports 2 banks, 2 hotels, and a weekly newspaper, the Index. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Edward Henderson, postmaster.

west, as reached by the new canal opened through from Portage lake, 14 from the mouth of Portage river, and 30 by water a little west of north from L'Anse its nearest railroad point. By water it is about 90 miles northwest from Marquette. By rail and stage it is 106 miles. The village is located on quite a steep hill side, and being almost isolated by a wide expanse of wilderness; from settlements to the south, the place presents to the eye of the stranger a a peculiar aspect from the almost entire absence of vehicles in the streets. The village was first settled in 1854, and was incorporated in 1861. It contains the court house and jail, 3 churches, Methodist, Episcopal and Catholic, a bank, 4 hotels, of which the Douglass House is quite a first class establishment, a large union school building, an excellent weekly newspaper, a copper rolling mill (capital $250,000), 2 stamp mills, 2 steam saw mills, a safety fuse factory and some other institutions. A ferry connects it with Hancock, just opposite. Both places are within the bounds of the mineral range of Keweenaw point, a strip from 4 to 6 miles in width extending in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction through the entire length of the Keweenaw peninsula, and beyond indefinitely. This mineral range is very rich in copper, and all the Lake Superior copper mines are included within its bounds. Of the mines located in the immediate vicinity of Houghton on the south side

HOUGHTON LAKE.

The county seat of Roscommon county is a place of 20 population, settled in 1873. It is situated on Roscommon lake, 28 miles from Roscommon Station on the Mackinaw division of the M. C. R. R., its nearest railroad point, and 193 from Detroit. Lumbering is the only industry and the place derives its chief importance from being the county seat. A line of stages runs to Farwell semi-weekly, distance about 40 miles. Mail four times a week. H. H. Woodruff, postmaster.

HOWARD CITY.

A prosperous incorporated village of 8 years standing, is located at the intersection of the D. L. & N. with the G. R. & I. R. R. and at the present northern terminus of the former road. It is in the township of Reynolds, in the northwest corner of Montcalm county, 35 miles north of Grand Rapids, 41 north of Ionia, 79 northwest of Lansing and 164 from Detroit. The surrounding country comprises both farming and pine timber lands. Wheat, hay and potatoes are the staple agricultural products. Tamarach river furnishes good water power and lumber and shingles are largely manufactured; there being 10 shingle mills, 4 saw mills, 3 planing mills, 2 sash and blind factories and 1 stave factory, 1 machine shop and 2 flouring mills in the place and immediate vicinity.

The village contains 3 churches, Baptist, F. W. Baptist and Methodist, a good Union school, Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges, and a weekly newspaper, the Record.

Lumber, shingles, lath and staves form the principal shipments.

Howard City was first settled in 1869 and incorporated in 1873. The present population numbers about 1000. Express, United States and American. Telegraph, Western Union and Atlantic & Pacific. Stage communication is had with Lake View and Croton daily. Daily mail. Amos R. Mather, postmaster.

HOWELL.

An attractive village of nearly 3000 inhabitants is the county seat of Livingston county. It is centrally located in Howell township, on the line of the D. L. & N. railroad, 32 miles southeast of Lansing, about the same distance northeast of Jackson and 52 miles northwest of Detroit. Wheat is the great staple agricultural product of this section, as high as 40 bushels to the acre being grown in good seasons. Very good water power is obtained at a point about one mile north of the village, where flouring and saw mills are located.

The leading manufacturing interests of Howell are a foundry, machine shop and agricultural implement factory, a sash door and blind factory, and two steam flouring mills. The public buildings embrace the county buildings, which are good and substantial, 3 churches, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian, and a Union school building erected at a cost of $32,000. Among the recent improvements are a fine new brick block of which the National hotel is a part and a neat new engine house. There are organizations of Masons, Odd Fellows and Grangers, all of which are in a prosperous condition. The press is represented by the Livingston Republican and the Democrat. The original settlement was formed in 1828, the village laid off in 1835 and incorporated in 1863, the railroad was opened to it in 1871. Telegraph, Atlantic and Pacific. Express, American. Stage daily to Pinckney 12 miles south. W. W. Kenyon, postmaster.

HUDSON.

A village of 3000 inhabitants and one of the most stirring business towns along the line of the L S & M S Ry, is situated in Hudson township, near the western line of Lenawee county, 18 miles west of Adrian, 18 east of Hillsdale, 92 from Detroit, 52 from Toledo and 192 from Chicago. It is located in a first class farming region on Tiffin river, which has its rise in Devil's lake 11 miles north and which furnishes the place with a moderate water power. It is said to have 100 feet fall from its source to the village. The manufactures of Hudson are wooden ware, flour, pumps, carriage wood work, furniture, hand fire engines, lumber, etc. There are 5 or more churches, Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist and Catholic, a graded union school offers excellent educational facilities. Two newspapers are published the Post and the Gazette.

There are but few towns, whose manufacturing interests show off to better advantage than those of Hudson. They are all, or nearly so, located on the east side of the town, and compactly built on either side of Main street. Settled, 1834. Incorporated, 1854. Express, United States. Telegraph, Western Union. Stages to Rollin and Addison daily, to Plattville and South Wright tri-weekly, and to Lickley's semi-weekly. Mail from all points daily. Edward J. Southworth, postmaster.

IONIA.

An attractive little city of about 3,500 inhabitants, is the county seat of Ionia county. It is beautifully situated on the north bank of the Grand river, near the center of the county, and at the intersection of the D. & M. and D. L. & N. railroads, 34 miles east of Grand Rapids, 39 northwest of Lansing, and 123 from Detroit. The settlement was formed in 1832 by a colony which moved in under the leadership of Samuel Dexter, a pioneer from Boston, Mass. The place grew slowly, until in 1857, when the D. & M. railroad was completed to this point. The Ionia & Lansing, now part of the D. L. & N. followed in 1869. Ionia was incorporated as a village in 1865, and 4 years later obtained a city charter. The manufacturing interests in operation embrace 2 flouring mills, a foundry and machine shop, a pottery, a large brewery, a planing mill, a stave and barrel factory, a saw mill, a sash, door and blind factory, and some others. An extensive brick yard which turns out a famous white brick, resembling closely the well known Milwaukee brick, and the shops of the D. L. & N. R. R. are also located here.

Ionia is noted for its fine residences and handsome churches, of the latter there are 8, Baptist, Catholic, Christian, Congregational, Dutch Reformed, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian. The educational interests comprise a large graded school building, costing $35,000, and two ward schools. Just west of the city is the new Intermediate State prison, an institution designed to relieve the Jackson prison, of the less heinous class of offenders. Two newspapers are published here, the Sentinel, republican, and the Standard, democratic. Beside the two intersecting railroads, a branch of the D. L. & N. connects Ionia with Stanton, commanding thereby an immense lumber business. The soil in the vicinity is somewhat gravelly, but is excellent for farming purposes. All the cereals, grass, potatoes and other root crops and apples being successfully grown. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union. Express, American. Marion L. Smith, postmaster.

ISHPEMING.

A city of 5000 inhabitants is one of the most important mining centers in the Marquette iron district. It is in Marquette county, on the M H & O R R, 16 miles west of Marquette, 3 west of Negaunee and is the northern terminus of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, 421 miles north of Chicago. Ishpeming is the location of some of the principal iron mines on lake Superior, among which are the:

	Product for 1875.
Cleveland	140,239 Tons.
Lake Superior	129,340 "
New York	70,754 "
Barnum	43,209 "
Winthrop	7,502 "

The following are in the immediate vicinity:

	Product for 1875.
Saginaw	55,318 Tons.
Lake Angeline	26,370 "

There are 2 smelting furnaces established here, the Deer Lake and the Peet furnaces. A large foundry and machine shop, a carriage factory and a furniture factory comprise the other industries. There are 4 churches, 1 Baptist, 1 Catholic and 2 Methodist, a commodious Union school building, costing $40,000. Lodges of Masons and Odd Fellows and 2 good hotels. A weekly newspaper, the Iron Home is published. The surrounding country is rough and hilly, but portions of it are moderately good for farming purposes. Iron ore and pig iron are the only exports. Express, American. Telegraph, North Western. Mail daily.

JACKSON.

One of the most solid and healthy in its growth of the cities of Michigan is situated on the M. C. R. R., at its junction with the Air line, the Grand Rapids, and the Saginaw divisions, also the Ft. W. J. & S. R. R. and the Jackson branch of the L. S. & M. S. Ry. It is 76 miles west of Detroit, 37 south of Lansing, 94 southeast of Grand Rapids, 78 northwest of Toledo and 208 east of Chicago. The city is the county seat of Jackson county and now has a population, according to the most reliable estimates, of 18,000.

GENERAL FEATURES.

Owing to its central position the original State and Territorial roads were laid out through the village of Jacksonburg, and several of the most important highways of the State were started from, and ran to this point. Jackson county is also the source of most of the principal water courses of the State. The Kalamazoo, the Raisin, the Portage and the Grand rivers, all rise within its borders, while in its immediate vicinity are the head-waters of the St. Joseph, the Tiffin branch of the Maumee, the Huron, the Thornapple and others. Five of the seven railroads entering Jackson center at one Union depot, the largest and finest in the State, and the various directions in which they leave and approach the city renders it possible for merchants and others who live within a hundred miles to visit the city, transact their business and return the same day.

MANUFACTORIES.

Its ample railroad facilities and extensive coal mines afford it good advantages as a manufacturing center and its business interests are among the heaviest in the state.

From recent estimates we gather the following table of the business done annually by the principal manufacturing establishments:

Three Agricultural Implement Factories	$ 1,000,000
Four Breweries	50,000
Seven Wagon and Carriage Factories	800,000
Four Flouring Mills	1,000,000
Three Foundries	250,000
Two Furniture Factories	500,000
Three Harness Makers	45,000
Four Marble and Stone Cutters	60,000
Plaster Mill	30,000
Three Cigar Factories	60,000
Two Box Factories	60,000
Five Planing Mills	500,000
One Tool Handle Works	25,000
Four Machine Shops	1,500,000
One Sewer Pipe Factory	50,000
One Paper Pulp Mill	30,000
One Chemical Works	500,000
One Pottery	40,000
One Excelsior Factory	20,000
Five Coal Mines	2,000,000
One Brick Yard	40,000
Two Artificial Stone Works	40,000
One Car Manufactory	800,000
Two Boiler Shops	25,000
One Vinegar Works	10,000
Four Sash and Blind Factories	1,000,000
Two Soap and Candle Factories	25,000
One Spice Mill	10,000
Three Pump Factories	15,000
One Patent Medicine Manufactory	50,000
One Corset and Hoop Skirt Manufactory	100,000
Two Gunmakers	20,000
Two Hair Works	20,000
One Glove and Whip Factory	10,000
Two Iron Cornice and Roofing	30,000
Four Cooperages	200,000
Two Broom Factories	45,000
One File Cutting Works	5,000
Total	$10,965,000

Besides all these the principal car shops of the M. C. R. R. and branches are located here, the works being very extensive, and including a round house with a capacity for 54 engines. These give employment to a large number of hands.

SALES OF DEALERS.

Twenty-four Boot and Shoe Houses	$ 1,000,000
Six Dry Goods Houses	1,500,000
Fifty-three Groceries	2,200,000
Eleven Clothing Stores	450,000
Ten Drug Stores	360,000

Six Tobacco and Cigars	24,000
Five Jewelers	100,000
Total	$9,514,000

Jackson has 4 incorporated and 2 private banks. These are:

The First National, capital	$100,000
The People's National, capital	100,000
The Jackson County Bank, capital	250,000
Jackson City Bank, capital	100,000

The newspapers are the Citizen, republican, daily and weekly; the Patriot, democratic, daily and weekly; the Saturday Evening Times, weekly, and the Michigan Agriculturist, monthly. In the way of churches there are 4 Baptist, 2 Congregational, 3 Methodist Episcopal, 2 Independent Methodist, 1 Evangelical Association, 1 Christian, 2 Protestant Episcopal, 1 German Lutheran, 1 Adventist, 1 Unitarian, 1 Catholic and 1 Jewish Synagogue. The school system comprises 2 large union schools, and 10 ward schools. There are also German Lutheran, Hebrew and Catholic private schools and a business college. The Young Men's Library contains about 4,000 volumes.

There are many excellent business structures and several good hotels, prominent among which are the Union and the Hurd house.

The city is lighted with gas and supplied with water by the Holly system.

The Michigan State Prison is located in Jackson, and is in no wise behind the other State institutions in their acknowledged perfection. It is a perfect hive of industry, about 700 of the 850 convicts being regularly employed in the various shops.

KALAMAZOO.

The county seat of Kalamazoo county, and the largest incorporated village in the United States is a flourishing place of 12,300 inhabitants. It is beautifully situated on the Kalamazoo river and as a railroad center, it is surpassed in the State only by Detroit and Grand Rapids. The various lines centering here or passing through the village, are the M C R R main line, the Grand Rapids & Indiana, the South Haven division of the M C R R and the Kalamazoo division of the L S & M S Ry. It is 39 miles east of South Haven, 35 north of Sturgis, 37 north of White Pigeon, 48 south of Grand Rapids, 144 west of Detroit and 140 east of Chicago.

Among the prominent institutions located here are the Michigan State Insane Asylum, which now maintains 640 inmates at a cost to the State of $153,600, the Kalamazoo college a Baptist educational institution, the Michigan Female Seminary an institution under Presbyterian auspices and the Kalamazoo Business College, Telegraph and Writing Institute, a popular and highly successful institution, under the management of W F Parsons.

Kalamazoo has 3 public libraries, the public library proper with over 4000 volumes, the Ladies' library with nearly 3000 volumes and the Young Men's library with nearly 2000 volumes, in addition to these is the College library with 3050 volumes. In addition to the educational institutions above named, the place has 1 High and 5 ward schools. There are 13 churches; almost every denomination common to the State being represented.

The principal manufacturing enterprises are 5 flouring mills, 1 large paper mill, 3 foundries and machine shops, 2 agricultural implement works, 2 wooden ware factories, 3 planing mills, 1 billiard table leg manufactory, 1 steel spring works and the Eagle Portland cement works, a new enterprise.

There are 3 banks, the First National, capital $100,000; the Michigan National, capital $100,000; and the Kalamazoo City bank, capital $60,000. There are 2 newspapers published here, the Telegraph, daily republican and the Gazette, weekly democrat. The Michigan Free Mason, a masonic monthly is also published.

Kalamazoo is the market and center of supplies for a wealthy agricultural region and noted for the beauty of its broad, finely shaded streets, for its substantial stores and elegant private residences.

Stages leave for Richland daily and for Prairieville tri-weekly. Telegraph, Western Union and Atlantic and Pacific. Express, American and United States. L. B. Kendall, postmaster.

KALAMAZOO

Mastic Roofing and Paint Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

KALAMAZOO

MASTIC PAINT

And Roofing Cement.

Office, 81 Water Street, Factory, corner of Myrtle Street and Michigan Southern Railroad.

Prepared ready for use, in 1, 2, 5 and 10 gallon Packages and Barrels, and varying in colors any shade, including PURE WHITE AND JET BLACK.

We offer our Paints to the Public, fully CONFIDENT that they are the best Paints now in use, and must in time supercede all others. We claim superiority in its durability, its Fire and Water-Proof qualities, its elasticity, IN ITS ADHESION, IN ITS GLOSSY FINISH, ITS POSITIVE and ENDURING COLORS, and in its capability of HIGH POLISH.

The chemical combinations are such, that it petrifies and fills the pores of the wood, and hermetically seals them against atmospheric action, so that when the Paint becomes hardened by time, it is thoroughly WATER AND FIRE-PROOF.

It is well adapted for all classes of work, outside and inside Painting, Boat Painting and all kinds of Agricultural work; and will not peel, crack or rub off.

L'ANSE.

A village of about 800 inhabitants and the county seat of the new county of Baraga, is situated at the western terminus of the M. H. & O. R. R, near the head of L'Anse bay. It is 63 miles southwest of Marquette and 28 southeast of Houghton. The place takes its name from the beautiful bay upon which it is situated and was named L'Anse, "The bay," by the early French discoverers, by the way of pre-eminence from its being the best, safest and most beautiful harbor on the lake. It was settled in 1871, a short time before the completion of the railroad to this point. The village contains an extensive iron dock from which all the product of the more western mines of the iron region is shipped. There is also a dock for merchandise.

The other interests are a bank, 2 hotels, several stores, good schools and ample church accommodations. There are several slate and brown stone quarries in the neighborhood of the village. Fall river which here empties into the bay, furnishes abundant unimproved water power. A boat plies daily between L'Anse and Houghton. The finest whitefish in western waters are caught here, and the brooks and streams abound in speckled trout. Iron, slate, lumber and fish make up the leading shipments. Telegraph, Western Union and Northwestern. Express, American. Mail daily. P. Crebassa, postmaster.

LANSING.

The capital of the State of Michigan, a flourishing city of about 8,000 inhabitants, is situated in the northwest corner of Ingham county, near the longitudinal center of the lower peninsula of the State. Railroads radiate from the city in 7 different directions. Southeast, the D. L. & N. R. R. connects it with Detroit, 85 miles distant; south, the Saginaw division of the M. C. R. R. connects it with Jackson, 37 miles, and the L. S. & M. S. Ry. with Albion and Jonesville, 37 and 59 miles distant, respectively; southwest, the C. & L. H R. R. connects it with Battle Creek, 45 miles; northwest, the D. L. & N. R. R. connects it with Ionia, 38 miles, and northeast the Saginaw division of the M. C. R. R. with Saginaw and Bay City, 64 and 79, and the C. & N. E. R. R. with Flint and Port Huron, 50 and 116 miles distant, respectively.

In 1848 the first meeting of the legislature was held here, the site having within a year been cleared, the state house built, and sufficient accommodations provided for boarding the members Lansing was incorporated as a city in 1859, but it was not till 1863 that it was accessible by rail. It has since grown rapidly, and bids fair to become a place of considerable commercial importance, aside from its prestige as being the seat of government.

THE STATE BUILDINGS.

The legislature of 1871 voted an appropriation of $1,200,000 for the erection of a new State capitol, and this structure is now (1877) in an advanced state of progress, it is wholly of stone, brick and iron, and as nearly fire proof as possible. It is in the palladian style of architecture, and is 345 feet in length, 191 feet in width, and 265 feet in height to the top of the lantern. A rotunda and dome occupy the center of the building. The basement will be used for the State armory and for storage purposes. The first floor will be fitted up for the various State offices; the second and third stories will be thrown together in part for the hall of representatives, senate chamber, executive apartments and State library, part of the third story being used for the Supreme Court room. It is to be ready for occupancy in 1878.

The State library contains over 30,000 volumes, and is in a flourishing condition. The State Reform School is located on a farm of 224 acres, just northeast of the city, it has at present (1877), 256 inmates. The State Agricultural College is located 3 miles east of Lansing. It had an endowment from Congress of 240,000 acres of land, the greater portion of which remains unsold. The number of students for 1877 is 164.

OTHER INSTITUTIONS.

Lansing boasts 15 churches of the various denominations common in this State. It has likewise an admirable school system. A new high school building has recently been erected at a cost of $60,000.

The Odd Fellows of the State here maintain an extensive institute for an orphan asylum and home for indigent members of the order, the value of the property being about $100,000.

Valuable mineral waters are found here. Among the hotels is the Lansing House, a large and first-class hotel in every respect.

The newspapers are the Republican, published semi-weekly, one of the most carefully edited papers in the State, and the Journal, an excellent democratic weekly. The State printing office of W S George & Co, is one of the most extensive and complete in the northwest.

BUSINESS INTERESTS.

The Grand river upon which the city is situated is susceptible of considerable improvement as a water power. The manufacturing interests include 3 sash and blind factories an extensive chair factory, a bending factory, 2 large coopering establishments, 2 agricultural implement factories, a large machine shop, etc.

There are 2 national banks, the Second, capital $50,000, and the Lansing, capital $100,000, also 2 private banks.

There are several exclusively wholesale houses in Lansing. The city has several fine blocks of stores, a good opera house, many handsome residences and is lighted with gas. Six splendid iron bridges (5 of which were erected in 1875) cross the river at various points. The bonded debt of the city, including the aid voted to railroads, is $171,800. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union. Express, American and United States. S. D. Bingham, postmaster.

LAPEER.

Is situated at the intersection of the C. & L.H. and the Bay City division of the M.C. railroads, 20 miles east of Flint, 45 west of Port Huron, 48 southeast of Bay City and 60 above Detroit. It is a thriving incorporated city of some 3,500 inhabitants and is the seat of justice for Lapeer county. The site of the village was taken up by A. N. Hart, in 1831, and the village platted by him in 1833. In 1836 the county was organized, and Lapeer became the county seat. In 1860 it received a village charter, and in 1868 became a city. In 1871 it secured a railway outlet via Port Huron, and in 1872 was tapped by the D. & B. C. R. R. now the B. C. division of the M. C. R. R., a branch of which, 5 miles long, here diverges to Fish Lake. It derives water power from the Flint river and has among its manufacturing enterprises 3 planing mills, 2 flouring mills, a chair factory, a woolen mill, 2 machine shops, 2 wagon shops and some others. Lumber, shingles, staves, sash, doors and farm produce are shipped. Lake Neppesing, a beautiful and popular summer resort, lies 4 miles southwest. Lapeer has two weekly newspapers, the Clarion, republican, and the Democrat. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Mail daily. Shad N. Vincent, postmaster.

LAWTON.

A flourishing village of 1,000 inhabitants, in Antwerp township, Van Buren county. It lies on the M. C. R. R., at the junction of the Paw Paw branch, 4 miles southeast of Paw Paw, 16 west of Kalamazoo, 160 west of Detroit and 124 from Chicago. The village was first settled in 1848 and incorporated in 1859. It is situated in a section embracing oak openings and black ash swamp lands, of which grain, fruit and live stock are the staples. The blast furnace of the Michigan Central Iron Co is the leading business interest. It has a capital of $250,000, and produces about 20 tons of pig iron a day. The ore is brought by water from lake Superior to New Buffalo, thence by rail to Lawton. The other manufacturing interests include machine shops, a fanning mill manufactory, 2 carriage shops, a saw mill and a cider manufactory. There are 2 flouring mills in the neighborhood. It has 2 churches, Baptist and Methodist, and a good Union school. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. A stage communicates with Paw Paw 4 times a day. Mail daily. William H. Smith, postmaster.

LELAND.

This village lies on the shore of lake Michigan, directly opposite the North Manitou island. It is situated on a level plat of land lying between two high hills on the north and south, and extending back to Carp lake. Carp river, the outlet of this lake, runs through the village, giving it a water communication back into the interior some 15 miles. Leland is a fine place of summer resort, the scenery being beautiful and diversified, the atmosphere pure and heathful, and the fishing not to be excelled. The population of the village is 434. It contains three churches—Catholic, Lutheran and Congregational—two sawmills and a blast furnace, the iron ore for which is brought across the lake from Escanaba. The furnace was the property of the late Capt. E. B. Ward, of Detroit. Leland is 11 miles southwest of Northport, the county seat, and 30 northwest of Traverse City, its nearest railway station. It was settled in 1854. A tri-weekly stage-line runs to Sutton's Bay, Traverse City and Glen Arbor. Mail, tri-weekly. Ellis A. Doty, postmaster.

LESLIE.

This village is pleasantly situated in the township of Leslie, Ingham county, 24 miles south of Lansing. It is on the Saginaw division of the M. C. R. R., 15 miles north of Jackson, and 90 from Detroit. The surrounding country comprises good farming lands, interspersed with hardwood timber. Leslie includes in its manufacturing enterprises 2 planing mills, a large stave and heading factory, a flouring mill, a foundry, a tannery, a saw mill, and some others. The churches are 4, Baptist, Freewill Baptist, Congregational and Methodist. It has 3 hotels—the Allen House being first class—a National bank, and a large brick Union school building, that cost, to build, $20,000. The Leslie Local, a lively weekly, is published.

The village has no water power, though it has the finest supply of artesian wells in the State. At a depth of 170 feet, and a cost of only $400, flowing water is obtained in great abundance. There are 8 of these wells, all having medical properties, something similar to the waters at Eaton Rapids. The possibility of using this water as a motive power has been suggested.

Leslie was first settled in 1836 and incorporated as a village in 1869. Population, 1,800. Staves, lumber, live stock and farm products are shipped. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. James Blackmore, postmaster.

LUDINGTON.

The capital of Mason county, a thriving city of about 3,000 inhabitants, is situated at the mouth of the Pere Marquette river, and has one of the finest and safest harbors on lake Michigan. It is the western terminus of the F. & P. M. Ry., and is distant from Detroit 236 miles, 15 north of Pentwater, and 25 south of Manistee. The village was platted, and recorded in Sept. 1867, there being only one store in the place at the time. The F. & P. M. Ry. was completed to this point in December 1874. Lumber, lath and shingles are largely manufactured, there being in all 7 saw and shingle mills, a planing mill, and a wooden bowl factory. There are 2 foundries, 2 banks, 2 weekly newspapers, 4 hotels, 7 churches, representing as many denominations, and good school facilities. Lumber, lath, shingles and tan bark are largely shipped. Stages run to Manistee and Pentwater daily. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Mail, daily. George W. Clayton, postmaster.

MACKINAW.

Situated on the south shore of the island of Mackinac, in the straits of the same name, is a village of 800 inhabitants, and the county seat of Mackinac county. It is 18 miles northwest of Cheboygan, 350 from Detroit by water, and 400 from Chicago. Petoskey, 50 miles southwest is the nearest railroad point. The island is hilly and rocky, and for the most part covered with second growth timber. The village consists mainly of a single street running along the shore with a steep hill rising abruptly in the rear surmounted by the old fort still garrisoned by a company of United States troops. Fish and Indian goods are the principal shipments. The island is rapidly growing in popularity as a place of summer resort. Among the more prominent of the natural curiosities of the place is arch rock which rises to the heighth of 140 feet in the arch. Other objects of interest are sugar loaf rock, rising abruptly out of the plain 100 feet, lovers leap, devil's kitchen, chimney rock, Robinson's folly and giants' stairway, all worthy of the attention of the tourist. There are several good hotels in the village which are, during a part of the year, thronged with guests. The walks and drives about the island are very romantic and the air pure, bracing and healthful. The town has a Roman Catholic church and Methodist and Presbyterian missions, a Union school building and a dozen or more stores. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, St. Joseph and McClure's. A daily boat runs to Petoskey and a mail is received daily. James Lasley, postmaster.

MACKINAW CITY.

Is located on the most northern point of the lower peninsula of Michigan. It is in the township of Beaugrand, Cheboygan county, 17 miles northwest of Cheboygan, 30 miles northeast of Petoskey, the nearest railroad point, and by water 300 from Detroit. A city was laid out here on a large scale some years ago by one Edward Conkling, of Cincinnati, but the enterprise was premature, and up to this time but little development has taken place. There can be no doubt, however, that sooner or later this will be the focal point for the railroad lines reaching out toward the upper peninsula, and where the straits of Mackinaw will one day be bridged, tunneled or ferried. The present population of the place numbers about 100. It has an office of the Western Union telegraph and a stage line to Cheboygan weekly, carrying mails. Fish is the only export. Lewis I. MANCHESTER.

A brisk village of 2,000 or more inhabitants, in the southwestern corner of Washtenaw county, in which it ranks third in population and importance. It lies in the beautiful valley of the river Raisin, at the intersection of the D. H. & S. W. R R. with the Jackson branch of the L. S. & M. S. Ry., 24 miles west of Ypsilanti, 21 east of Jackson, 54 west of Detroit and 51 northwest of Toledo. The river affords water power for flouring mills, saw mills, a woolen factory, a wagon manufactory, a foundry and machine shop. Besides these there are 2 planing mills, a large brewery and a chemical works. Manchester has a weekly newspaper, the Enterprise, two good hotels, a state bank, capital $50,000; a large Union school building, costing over $25,000, with accommodations for over 300 scholars; also a German school and six churches—Methodist, Universalist, Lutheran, Baptist, Presbyterian and Catholic. The village is built mostly of brick and boasts some of the finest business blocks and residences in the State. The waters of the Riverside mineral springs have attained considerable popularity for their health-giving properties The products of one of the richest agricultural regions of the State are marketed at this village and the two railroads offer excellent competition on freights. MANISTEE.

The county seat of Manistee county, is a city of 5500 inhabitants, located in the southwest part of the county, on the shore of lake Michigan and at the mouth of Manistee river. It is distant from Detroit by rail and stage via Ludington 270 miles, from Chicago by water 175 miles, from Ludington 31 miles by stage and 25 by boat and is 28 miles south of Frankfort. Manistee was first settled about the year 1846 and received a city charter in 1869, never having had any village charter. The character of the surrounding country is varied, some portions of it being very good for agricultural purposes; the productions being winter wheat of a good quality, potatoes, corn, etc. There is also some fruit raised about here and it is probable that Manistee will shortly export large quantities of small fruits. Lumber in its various forms is the principal article of export, there being about 20 saw and shingle mills in and about the city, most of them being located on an expansion of the river, known as Manistee lake.

There are also 2 foundries and machine shops, 2 boiler shops, a tannery, a sash, door and blind factory, and 3 weekly newspapers, the Advocate (Democratic), the Times and the Times and Standard (Republican). A bank and good hotel are needed. Manistee has suffered considerably from fires during the last few years, but notwithstanding this fact is a thriving place and growing rapidly. It has several very handsome public and private buildings. The Temperance Hall, built by the Women's Temperance Association (a society of ladies organized for the purpose of suppressing intemperance) at a cost of $15,000, is a splendid public hall, with reading room attached and is one of the finest buildings on the east shore of lake Michigan north of Grand Haven. A stage runs to Ludington and Frankfort during the close of navigation. Express, American to Ludington, thence by stage. Telegraph, Western Union. Mail daily. Byron M. Cutcheon, postmaster.

MARQUETTE.

The commercial metropolis of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and the county seat of Marquette county, is situated on a beautiful bay of the same name, about midway between St. Mary's river and the Wisconsin boundary line, 170 miles from the head of the canal, and about 450 miles, by water, from Detroit. The building of the Marquette and Mackinac railroad will lessen the distance necessary to be traveled nearly one hundred miles. It has direct railway communication with Chicago and Milwaukee, and, in fact, with all the cities of the West, except those of the Lower Peninsula. It is the eastern terminus of the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railway, now completed a distance of 65 miles to L'Anse, at the head of Keweenaw bay. The actual discovery of the iron beds of Marquette county occurred in 1845, and the settlement of the city dates from about the same time. The first iron dock was built in 1854, and the railroad completed to the mines in 1857. In 1865 the C. & N. W. Ry. was opened to Escanaba, since which time the city has grown steadily, the population now numbering 6,500.

Marquette is the great center of the iron interests of lake Superior. There are altogether some 50 mines and 19 blast furnaces, of the former, worked during the year 1875, the aggregate product was 910,840 tons, valued at $3,540,499. The product of the blast furnaces, for the same period, amounted to 81,753 tons of pig iron, valued at $2,248,-264, making a total of $5,788,763.

The manufacturing interests of Marquette include 3 large blast furnaces, a rolling mill, 1 large foundry and machine shop, 1 saw mill, one brewery, and 2 extensive brown stone quarries, with mills for sawing the stone into merchantable shape.

The Huron Bay Slate & Iron Company are largely engaged in the manufacture and sale of roofing slate, and the time is not far distant when the Huron bay and L'Anse quarries will supply all the slate used in the Northwest.

The extensive car and machine shops of the M. H. & O. R. R. are also located here, and at these shops all the cars employed on the line are constructed and locomotives rebuilt and repaired.

The city is lighted with gas and supplied with water by Holly water works. Three well organized hose companies constitute its fire department. The main street contains a number of very handsome blocks. There are 7 churches, some of which are elegant and costly structures. There are 4 ward school buildings and a handsome brown stone edifice erected at a cost of $80,000 for the high school. There are 3 public halls, a $50,000 opera house, several good hotels, among which Cozzens' is in all respects first-class, and enjoys a great popularity with summer visitors and tourists.

There is only one newspaper at Marquette, but this one, the Mining Journal, for its enterprise and ability, merits the monopoly it enjoys. The financial interests of the city are represented by 3 banks, with an aggregate capital and surplus of $1,500,000. The city has several mercantile establishments that do a business of $250,000 each, annually. Telegraph, Western Union and Northwestern. Express, American. S. M. Billings, postmaster.

MARSHALL.

A thriving little city of 5,000 inhabitants, is the county seat of Calhoun county, it is located on the Kalamazoo river, and is a point on the M. C. R. R., 108 miles west of Detroit, 32 west of Jackson, and 177 east of Chicago

The site for a village was selected here in 1830, by a colony from the State of New York, and for several years the settlement experienced a remarkable degree of prosperity. In 1836, however, a period of reaction set in, which continued until 1844, when with the completion of the railroad to this point a new era of improvement began.

Marshall was incorporated as a city in 1859, and the present population numbers about 5,000; a valuable water power is derived from the river here, and considerable manufacturing is carried on, there being 5 flouring mills, a wind mill and pump factory, a large hoe manufactory, 2 planing mills, 2 machine shops and a foundry. There are 3 banks, the First National, capital $200,000; the National Bank of Michigan, capital $100,000; and the National City Bank, capital $100,000.

Two live newspapers are published here, the Statesman and the Expositor. The city is lighted with gas. The fire department consists of a steamer and two hand engines, supplied with water from 22 artesian wells, located in different parts of the city.

There are 10 churches in Marshall: Christian, Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregational, Evangelical Association, Lutheran, Catholic and African Methodist. There is also a Spiritual association. In 1873 the Presbyterians erected a $60,000 church edifice. The public schools comprise a $60,000 central building—one of the finest in the State—and 4 ward schools. There are over 1,300 scholars enrolled, and 20 teachers employed at an aggregate of $8,500 for salaries.

In 1874 the county erected here a new court house, one of the finest in central Michigan. Its cost was over $50,000. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Samuel J. Burpee, postmaster.

Menominee is an important lumber manufacturing point, having in the immediate neighborhood 6 large saw mills with a yearly capacity of 75,000,000 feet of lumber. A blast furnace in full operation turns out 8,000 tons of pig iron per annum, extensive beds of iron ore are being developed in the county, several companies having organized and located mines at Little Sturgeon falls, Breen-Ingalls and other points. There are 4 churches, Catholic, Lutheran and Methodist, good schools, 2 newspapers, the Herald and the Journal, 1 planing mill and 1 brewery. During 1874 a $34,000 court house was built, also a handsome brick town hall costing $8,000. The general government has expended $100,000 on harbor improvements here during the past few years. The village has a well organized fire department equipped with 1 steam and 2 hand engines. The streets which were originally constructed entirely of saw dust are being graveled and evidences of improvement are everywhere visible. Express, American. Telegraph, Northwestern. Mail daily. MONROE.

The county seat of Monroe county, a thriving little city near the southeast corner of the State, 41 miles a little west of south of Detroit, and 24 northeast of Toledo. It is on the river Raisin, near where it empties into lake Erie. It has 2 railroad connections with Detroit and Toledo, the L. S. & M. S. Ry. and the Canada Southern. The main line of the L. S. & M. S. Ry. also connects it with Adrian and Chicago, and the F. & P. M. Ry., extending northward, with Saginaw and Ludington. It is thus quite a railroad center.

Monroe has a population of about 6,000. It has 13 churches, 3 Catholic, the rest Protestant of the different denominations. There is a very fine Union school building and several ward schools, also an excellent private academy and collegiate institute for young ladies. The newspaper press is represented by the Commercial, Republican, and the Monitor, Democratic, both enterprising weekly journals.

D. A. ROSS & CO., 70 Franklin Street, DETROIT,
Ship Lumber to all Parts of the State.

The business interests of Monroe embrace 5 flouring mills, a stave factory, a spoke factory, a glass sand mill, 2 foundries, 3 sash and blind factories, 2 tanneries, a woolen mill, a brick yard, a brewery, a plaster mill and a tobacco factory, the latter employing 80 hands and doing a business of $500,000 a year. The nursery business is also carried on extensively at Monroe and in the vicinity. Express, United States. Telegraph, Western Union. Wm. A. Noble, postmaster.

A beautiful village of 1500 or more inhabitants and ten years growth in Muskegon county, 17 miles north of the city of Muskegon, 6 east of the shore of lake Michigan and on the north bank of White lake a picturesque body of water 7 miles long, averaging about 2 miles in width and navigable its entire length for the largest lake vessels. Montague is reached by the C. & M. L. S. R. R., and by the Engleman Transportation Company's steamers, it has attained considerable reputation as a lumber manufacturing point and is the immediate location of 6 or more saw mills, 1 planing mill and 2 shingle mills, with some 20 or more of the former in the neighborhood, the whole aggregating about 100,000,000 feet of lumber annually. The other manufactures are castings, machinery, curtain rollers, flour and wagons. Fruit growing is largely carried on in the vicinity and peaches of excellent flavor and other fruits are largely shipped. The town has a number of handsome public and private buildings and is one of the liveli-

MORGAN.

Morgan is a village of some 700 inhabitants, and is located upon the line of the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railroad, 7 miles west from Marquette, and 5 miles east of Negaunee. It is the most pleasant location upon the line of the railroad, and is the site of the well known Morgan furnace, from which it derives its name. This furnace was built in 1863, and has been the most successful enterprise of the kind in this region, having paid for itself in the first four months of its run. The iron from it is and has been the standard for all other lake Superior charcoal irons. The Morgan, together with the Champion furnace, which was burned in 1874, was projected and built under the immediate supervision of C. Donkersley, its president and treasurer, and who now operates the same under lease. Connected with the furnace is a bloomery, where charcoal blooms are made in quality equal, and, for many purposes, superior to the famous Swedish and Norway iron. In every respect these works are most complete, having their own foundry, machine, blacksmith, and carpenter shops. The product of the Morgan furnace amounts to about 6,000 tons of pig iron annually. MOUNT CLEMENS.

The county seat of Macomb county, is a flourishing incorporated village of about 3,000 inhabitants. It is located on the Clinton river, and is a station on the Grand Trunk railway, 23 miles northeast of Detroit. Perhaps no village of the same size in the State has made more rapid progress in the last few years than Mount Clemens. It has among its manufacturing interests 2 carriage shops, 1 stave factory, and 1 salt works. The mineral springs here are reported to be performing some remarkable cures of rheumatic and other affections. A new and commodious hotel and baths have been erected for the convenience of visitors. The village has Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Catholic and Lutheran churches, and first-class school accommodations. There are two newspapers, the Monitor and the Press. The village was settled in 1818, and was named after Christian Clemens, one of its pioneers. Express, Canadian. Telegraph, Western Union. Jas. H. Shook, postmaster.

Sol. S. Bateson & Bro. Are well known to every Gentleman of Taste and Fashion in Plymouth.

"The Wonder of the World."

One gentleman who was entirely cured of Rheumatism at the Baths at Mount Clemens, said, I consider these Waters the

"WONDER OF THE WORLD."

THESE WATERS AND BATHS ARE A GREAT SPECIFIC FOR

Scrofula, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Syphilis, Chronic Ague, Sick Headache, Neuralgic Affections, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Contractions, Protracted Convalescence, General Debility, Dysmenorrhœa, or Painful Menstruations, Scanty Menstruation, Absent Menstruation from want of developement at the time of Puberty and from temporary Suppression, Ecyema, Hysteria, Piles, Spinal Meningitis and St. Vitus Dance.

These Waters are not offered as a cure all, but the above diseases are benefitted by these Waters.

The cures at this place for the last three years have been more nearly miraculous than anything in the history of the World to the present time.

The Bathing Establishment and the Mineral Springs Hotel, at the Springs, are kept open all the year round, and kept at summer heat, so that it is quite as desirable a place of resort for the fall, winter and spring as in the summer, for bathing or recreation.

ADVERTISEMENT.

We invite SPECIAL ATTENTION to the fact, that the natural concentration of this Water is so great as to render it practicable for any one to have

A SOOL-BAD AT HOME!

EQUAL TO

Kreuznach, Nauheim, or Œynhausen,

By purchasing the Water in barrels and adding it to hot water in an ordinary bath-tub. From six to ten gallons added to each bath, according to the effect desired, is sufficient to make a bath even stronger than those celebrated foreign baths. In the same way, any bath establishment can give these unequaled Sool-Bads at a moderate price, by keeping a supply of the water. To encourage the use of the water in this manner, we have placed it at the low price of FIVE DOLLARS PER BARREL, including barrel, (for Bathing only,) at which rate it will be delivered for shipment to any part of the country. Special contracts for Water made with all Bathing establishments. The Water can also be used as a gentle and pleasant

APERIENT OR CATHARTIC.

At any Soda Water stand, by simply placing two tea-spoonsful or a table-spoonful or two in a soda water glass and drawing it full of soda water. Taken in this form, it resembles Kissingen.

When it is taken into account that these Waters are some eight times the strength of the most celebrated Springs in Germany, its very low price will be appreciated. For drinking, it is put up in cases of one dozen to one gross of pint bottles. For sale by all druggists.

A first-class practising Physician, of great experience, will be constantly in attendance at the Springs.

All orders must be accompanied by cash, in registered letters or post office order.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The county seat of Isabella county, is an incorporated village of 800 inhabitants, on Chippewa river, near the center of the county. There is no railroad nearer than Clare, on the F. & P. M. Ry, 15 miles north. St. Louis, on the S. V. & S. L. R. R., is 22 miles southeast, and is sometimes used as a shipping point. The surrounding country comprises first-class farming lands, wheat, all the cereals, and hay being extensively grown. The manufactures are flour, lumber, hoops, staves, carriages, castings, etc. There are 3 churches—Catholic, Methodist and Presbyterian. The county has just finished one of the best brick court houses in Northern Michigan, on the public square, the cost to build being $25,000. Two weekly newspapers are published here—the Enterprise (Republican, J. R. Doughty, publisher, and the Times (Democratic). Mount Pleasant was first settled in 1861. It has a daily mail. MUIR.

A flourishing village of 1,000 or more inhabitants, incorporated in 1869, and located on the line of the D. & M. R. R., in the township of Lyons, Ionia county. It is 1 mile north of the village of Lyons, and was originally known as Lyons Station. Soon, however, a thriving little village grew up when it took the name of Muir, in honor of the popular superintendent of the road, Wm. K. Muir. It is 7 miles east of Ionia, the seat of justice for the county, 36 northwest of Lansing, and 116 from Detroit. It is the outlet for a large section of pine country lying to the north, and is chiefly interested in the lumber business. There are 3 saw mills, a flouring mill, a shingle mill, a planing mill, 2 hotels, 3 churches, Christian, Methodist and Presbyterian, a good graded Union school, a national bank, capital $50,000, and a weekly newspaper. Lumber and general farm products are exported. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Mail daily. A. B. Robinson, postmaster.

MUNISING.

This village contains about 1,000 inhabitants, and is most beautifully situated on Grand Island bay, an indentation of lake Superior, in Schoolcraft county. It is 40 miles east of Marquette, and 130 miles west of Sault Ste Marie. It boasts of the best harbor on lake Superior and the most famous trout fishing grounds, while wild game of every description abounds. Lying, as it does, in the immediate vicinity of the Pictured Rocks, it is already patronized to a considerable extent as a summer resort for the tourist and invalid, and with its pure air and great natural attractions, bids fair to become the "Saratoga" of lake Superior. Located here is the extensive charcoal blast furnace of the Munising Iron Co., producing and shipping nearly 10,000 tons of pig iron each year. The Munising river here has a fall of 100 feet, affording an excellent opportunity for water power. The country around is rolling and covered with hardwood timber. Pig iron and brick are shipped. Telegraph, Western Union. Mail semi-weekly. W. H. Dack, postmaster.

(For business directory, see list of places received too late for regular insertion.)

MUSKEGON.

Muskegon, the county seat of Muskegon county, a flourishing city of 10,000 inhabitants, is situated on the south side, and near the head of Muskegon lake, a beautiful sheet of water which is the outlet of the river of the same name, and also forms the most important harbor on the east shore of lake Michigan, which is about four miles distant from the city. It is 108 miles by water, and 192 by rail, from Chicago, and 196 from Detroit. In 1812 the first settlement was made here by John Baptiste Recollet, who established a trading post. The first township meeting was held in 1838, when Henry Pencyer was elected supervisor. The great wealth of the lumber region north and east, which has since been so wonderfully developed, was then just beginning to be realized, and a few mills had been established in the interior, along the banks of the Muskegon river, before Muskegon itself attained any importance as a lumber manufacturing place. In 1837 Benj. H. Wheelock built the first saw mill at this place. During the next few years several others were built. The growth of the village was now rapid, and among those who took up land at this time were Martin Ryerson, Wm. Lasley, Horace and Erastus Wilcox, Geo. Woodbury, and Samuel Rose. The village was platted in 1849, incorporated in 1861, and as a city in 1870.

Muskegon is on the C. & M. L. S. R. R., and is the terminus of the M. & B. R. R. R.; also of the M. L. S. R. R., while the D. & M. has a running arrangement so that trains are run between this city and Detroit. It has a daily line of steamboats to Chicago and Milwaukee, and is a stopping place for the east shore line of steamers. The shipment of lumber from this place, annually, amounts to about 400,000,000 feet, requiring about 100 vessels, while a large amount is shipped by rail. The saw mills, of which there are a large number on Muskegon lake, are mostly of a large size and good construction, containing all the modern labor-saving inventions.

There are also 2 flouring mills, 3 large steam engine works and foundries, 2 saw factories, 2 boiler factories, 4 planing mills, with two of which are connected sash, door and blind factories, 1 clothespin factory, and the machine shops of the C. & M. L. S. R. R.

The lake on which the city is situated is 4½ miles long, and from 1 to 1½ miles wide, and affords a perfectly safe harbor for the large fleet of vessels trading here, and also furnishes plenty of room for booming purposes. Owing to the strong current in the channel leading from the lake to lake Muskegon, the water never freezes over, and affords better advantages for a winter harbor than almost any port on lake Michigan. The largest vessels on the great lakes can enter the port, and frequently load with deals directly for Europe.

The surrounding land is well adapted to gardening and fruit raising, more particularly grapes and peaches, while large shipments of strawberries are made every season.

Muskegon has as fine a Union school building as any in the State, for beauty, convenience and architectural design. It also has five ward school houses, affording seating capacity for 2500 children.

There are 11 churches, 8 hotels, of which the Hofstra House and Occidental are the best. There are also 2 National banks, the Muskegon National, with a capital of $200,000, and the Lumberman's, with capital of $100,000. The former has erected a large and elegant building, at a cost of $50,000, which also contains the postoffice.

The city has 2 lodges of Odd-Fellows, 2 Masonic lodges, 1 Royal Arch Chapter, 1 Commandery of Knights Templar, 1 Odd-Fellows' Encampment, and a lodge of Knights of Pythias.

The city is supplied with gas and water works (the Holly system). The newspapers published here are the Chronicle, the Lakeside Register, the Muskegon Herald (German) and the News & Reporter.

In August, 1874, about half the business portion of the city was consumed by fire, which devastated over 37 acres before its ravages could be stopped. This burnt district has since been generally built up with substantial brick buildings.

NAPOLEON.

A thrifty little village on the Jackson branch of the L. S. & M. S. Ry., in the township of Napoleon, Jackson county. It is 10 miles southeast of Jackson and the same distance west of Manchester, the crossing of the D. H. & S.W. R. R. It has a population of 500 or thereabouts, has Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal, Congregational and Free Methodist churches, and a good $6,000 Union school. The village is pleasantly located, but is too much scattered to show to advantage. The business interests of Napoleon include a planing mill, a grain cradle factory, a cooper shop and a cider mill. Potatoes, apples, wheat, cider and grain cradles are shipped. Settled, 1832. Express, United States. Telegraph, Western Union. Lucien M. Jones, postmaster.

NASHVILLE.

The village of Nashville is a sprightly little village of nearly 1,000 inhabitants, situated on the G. R. V. R. R., 45 miles east of Grand Rapids, and 50 northwest of Jackson. It is in Castleton township, Barry county, and its existence dates only from the completion of the railroad to this point. The Thornapple river affords a moderate water power. The manufacturing enterprises of Nashville include 2 flouring mills, a carding mill, a saw mill, a stave mill, a foundry, and a brick yard. There are but two churches, Methodist and Christian. A weekly newspaper, the News (independent), is also published here. Lumber, heading, stock, and farm produce are shipped from this station. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Daily mail. Horace T. Davidson, postmaster.

Rolling Mill	37,806 "	98,295
Salisbury	4,330 "	10,835
Winthrop	7,502 "	20,631

A number of other mines were not worked in 1875.

The pioneer furnace is also located at Negaunee. It has 2 stacks and turned out in 1875 17,606 tons of pig iron valued at $484,164, the only other manufactures here are 2 carriege and wagon shops. The city has Episcopal, Catholic and Methodist churches, ample school accommodations, a weekly newspaper the Iron Herald, 2 banks and the various accessories essential to a thriving business center. The country in this region is rough and hilly and but poorly adapted to agriculture. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. William Rowland, postmaster.

NILES.

The city of Niles is situated at the Western junction of the Main and Air lines of the M. C. R. R., and at the northern junction of the branch to South Bend. It is in the township of Niles, Berrien county, 179 miles west of Detroit, 93 east of Chicago, 47 southwest of Kalamazoo, and 10 north of South Bend, Ind. The population at present numbers about 4,800. The city lies at the head of navigation, on the St. Joseph river, and has excellent water power privileges.

The enterprise of this place is seen in its gas works, its fine rows of business houses, and its large iron bridge connecting the western side of the river with the main town. Though not the county seat, Niles is by far the largest and most important town in the county of Berrien. Its manufacturing interests are numerous, including 4 large flouring mills, 1 pulp mill, 1 paper mill, 1 saw mill, 2 extensive carriage shops, 2 foundries and machine shops, 1 woolen mill, an Alden evaporating house and several industrial interests of minor importance. Live stock and fruit form important shipments, Niles being the center of a region of country specially adapted to grazing and fruit culture.

The educational wants of the city have not been neglected, as would seem from the fact that they have a fine Union and four ward school houses, giving employment to 19 teachers.

Eight churches, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Methodist, Catholic, Baptist, Lutheran, and two colored churches, Methodist and Baptist, afford a Sabbath home for church going people.

The press of Niles consists of the Republican, the Democrat, and the Independent, a democratic sheet. Niles was settled in 1828, and took its name from Hezekiah Niles, the editor of Niles' Register, a famous publication in its day. A line of stages communicates with Berrien Springs and St. Joseph daily, distance 12 and 32 miles respectively. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union. Express, American. Evan J. Bonine, postmaster.

ment was formed here in 1846, and the village now has a population of about 600. It is surrounded by a well timbered country, having a good soil and growing hay, grain, fruits and vegetables. The village contains 2 steam saw mills, 1 grist mill and a shingle mill, but its principal business interests are in connection with the copper mines, located a few miles back in the interior. The following list comprises the most important of these mines, with the product of each for 1875:

	Pounds.
Ridge	400,343
Minnesota	218,400
National	146,721
Nonsuch	60,986
Flint Steel River	43,548
Adventure	37,380
Aztec	21,410
Rockland	19,073
Bohemian	11,263
Knowlton	7,923
Mass	4,186
Great Western	640

The mines in the vicinity of Ontonagon, however, have been so far outstripped by those in the Portage lake district as to have come to be considerably neglected. The village has 3 churches, Catholic, Episcopalian and Presbyterian, and an excellent Union school. A good weekly newspaper, the Miner, is supported. Telegraph, Mineral Range. Express, American. OWOSSO.

The city of Owosso is situated in the township of Owosso, Shiawassee county, at the point of crossing of the D. & M. and the S.

Culver, Page, Hoyne & Co., Manufacturers of Paging Machines, Nos. 118 & 120 Monroe Street, Chicago.

div of the M.C. railroads. It is 3 miles west of Corunna, 28 northeast of Lansing, 36 southwest of Saginaw, 79 east of Grand Rapids, and 78 from Detroit. Owing to its superior railroad facilities Owosso is the shipping and trading point for a large section of flourishing agricultural country. The Saginaw river, which flows through the place, furnishes a moderate water power. The first settlement was made here in 1835, when the village was laid out. The next year a colony from Rochester, N. Y., moved in, improved the water power, and established slack water navigation with Saginaw. The D. & M. R. R. was completed to Owosso in 1855, and the road to Lansing in 1863. The city received its corporate charter in 1860, and now has a population of about 2,800. There are 7 churches, representing the Baptist, Catholic, Congregational, Episcopal, Evangelical, Lutheran and Methodist denominations, a handsome brick Union school building and 3 branch schools, employing in the aggregate 11 teachers. The manufacturing interests include 2 foundries, 2 brick yards, 1 brewery, 3 furniture factories, 2 flouring mills, 1 handle factory, 2 sash, door and blind factories, 1 tannery and a large woolen mill; the latter however, is not in operation. There are 3 hotels, 1 National and 1 private bank, and 2 weekly newspapers, the Owosso Press, and the Valley City Stereoscope. There are various other interests more or less extensive, and numerous elegant private residences. Grain, flour, wool, furniture, leather, lumber, sash, doors, etc, are leading exports. A triweekly stage runs to West Haven, 6½ miles north. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. L. A. Hamblin, postmaster.

A postoffice and hamlet of about 100 persons, in Lee township, in the northeast part of Calhoun county. It is 13 miles from Marshall, the county seat, and 10 west of beautiful drives and picturesque lakes surround it on all sides. In common with so many of its sister villages of Michigan, it has mineral springs possessing undoubted medicinal properties. The country around was originally oak openings, but is now under a high state of cultivation. Cereals, fruit, and live stock are the great staples. The Paw Paw river affords water power, and the manufacturing interests embrace 3 flouring mills.

There are 6 churches—2 Baptist, Catholic, Christian, Methodist, and Presbyterian, a fine Union school building, costing $40,000, a new opera house, a good hotel, the Dyckman House, 2 banks, the First National, capital $100,000, and a private institution. Distances—to Kalamazoo, 20 miles; to Niles, 35 miles; to Detroit, 164 miles. Telegraphic facilities are afforded by the Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union lines. The Peninsular, a local company, has wires extending to all parts of the village, communicating with stores, business offices and private houses. Express, American. Mail daily. George W. Matthews, postmaster.

miles east of Deerfield, and 17 west of Monroe, on the Monroe and Adrian division of the L. S. & M. S. Ry. The Toledo & Petersburgh narrow gauge R. R. is almost completed, and is expected to be in running order by July, 1877. For a town of its size it has some very creditable brick stores. The surrounding country is well adapted to the raising of all kinds of farm produce. A good water power is found in the Raisin river.

The chief manufacturing interests of Petersburgh consist of a flouring mill, a woolen factory, a handle factory, a planing mill, a saw mill, a shingle mill, an Alden fruit drying and condensing establishment, a cheese factory (200 or 300 cow-power) and a large stave factory.

The public buildings consist of 2 churches —Methodist and Presbyterian—and a $10,000 school house.

The Canada Southern railroad has a depot about a mile and a half to the northwest. First settled, 1824. Incorporated, 1869. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, United States. Mail daily. George Peters, postmaster.

PONTIAC.

Is the county seat of Oakland, a county that stands seventh in point of agricultural wealth in the United States, and is situated on the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad, 26 miles northwest of Detroit. It is a city of about 4,000 inhabitants, and is one of the best business places in the State. The town was settled in 1818, by the Pontiac Land Company, who purchased from the government at $2 per acre, and 1,280 acres of which is now the most valuable portion of Pontiac. In 1819 a road was established between Pontiac and Detroit, and in 1820 this city was made the county seat.

The first newspaper published in the State, outside of Detroit, was called the Oakland Chronicle, which was afterwards merged in the Detroit Free Press. At present Pontiac has three weekly newspapers, the Bill Poster, Gazette and Commercial.

Pontiac is one of the best wool markets in the State, and also handles an immense quantity of farm productions. It has 5 flouring mills, 2 foundries, 1 brewery, 2 planing mills, 1 plaster mill, 1 tannery, etc., and 2 National Banks, a first class steam fire department, one of the finest school buildings in Michigan, erected at a cost of $70,000. Presbyterian, Congregational, Baptist, Episcopal, Catholic and Methodist churches, 2 public halls, and a number of very fine residences. The surrounding country is famous for its beautiful lakes, and Orchard lake is quite a summer resort, supporting 2 large hotels and appurtenances.

In the western part of the city stands the magnificent building, known as the Eastern Asylum for the insane, of which an illustration will be found on another page, and which will be completed and ready for occupancy about the first of January, 1878, at a cost of about half a million dollars. It is being constructed so as to accommodate 330 persons, easily 350, and without crowding 400. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Charles F. Kimball, postmaster.

PORT HURON.

Next to Detroit, is the most important commercial city on the eastern shore of Michigan. It is the county seat of St. Clair county, and is situated a little below the point where lake Huron finds its outlet into the St. Clair river, and at the confluence of Black river with the latter. It is 62 miles northeast of Detroit, 115 from Lansing, 320 from Chicago and 618 from New York. The Grand Trunk and Great Western railways, starting from just across the river, connect it with Buffalo, Montreal and the east. The Grand Trunk, crossing by ferry at Fort Gratiot, just above the city, is continued on to Detroit, and the Chicago & Lake Huron R. R. forms a direct line to Valparaiso, Ind., and to Chicago, by way of Flint, Lansing, Cassopolis, etc.

Ferries connect Port Huron with Port Sarnia, on the Canada side of the river, and two street railways extend northward to Fort Gratiot. Port Huron now claims a population of 10,000, and has 7 churches, 6 ward and 2 Union schools, 1 daily newspaper, the Times (Republican) and 3 weeklies, the Farmers' Visitor, the Sunday Commercial, and the Saturday Morning Journal. It has an efficient fire department, gas works, sewerage, water works on the Holly system, and a fine court house. The general government has recently completed a handsome custom house and postoffice at a cost of $250,000. An opera house costing $100,000, and several fine business blocks, have lately been erected. Black river is spanned by two elegant iron bridges.

Among the hotels, the Huron House is one of the best in the State; the Exchange and the Whitman House are also first class. There are 2 banks, the First National and a private bank. The heaviest branch of trade in Port Huron is in lumber, there being 5 or more saw mills and 3 planing mills in operation. There are also 4 furniture factories, 1 blind factory, 2 stave factories, 2 flouring mills, a tannery, 3 machine shops, 2 or 3 breweries, two of the largest dry docks on the lakes, and 3 ship yards.

A large trade is also done in fish. Port Huron is a port of entry, and, in the number of emigrants who first tread on United States soil, is surpassed by no other port in the country, New York only excepted.

The site of Port Huron was taken up by Hon. D. B. Harrington in 1819. Fort Gratiot had been established since 1812. The Gratiot road was cut through, giving it land communication with Detroit, in 1833. Two years later the village was incorporated under the name of Port Huron. In 1857 it secured a city charter, and in 1859 was connected with Detroit by rail. Its growth has been steady and healthy, with nothing of inflation about it, and in time, no doubt, Port Huron will become a large city and an important trade center. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American and Canadian. William Hartsuff, postmaster.

PORTLAND.

Is a flourishing village in the southeast part of Ionia county, distant 111 miles from Detroit, 22 northwest of Lansing and 14 southeast of Ionia, the county seat. It is a station on the D. L. & N. R. R., and prospectively a station on the Coldwater, Marshall & Mackinaw R. R., which is expected to be in operation between this point and Marshall about the end of the present year (1877). The village is located at the confluence of the Grand and Looking Glass rivers, and enjoys a first-class water power on each stream. It has a manufactory of fanning mills, a planing mill and sash factory, a woolen mill, a saw mill, a factory of church and office furniture, 2 large flouring mills, 2 foundries, carriage and blacksmith shops, etc., a good weekly newspaper, 2 banking firms, 6 churches of the various denominations, and 3 good schools. Portland is surrounded by a good farming country, wheat being the staple production. The first settlement was made here about 1834, and the village incorporated in 1869. It now has a population of 2,500. The shipments embrace staves, flour, wheat, wool, furniture, castings, etc. The American Express Co. has an office here, and the D. L. & N. R. R. Co.'s line in connection with the Atlantic & Pacific Co. furnishes telegraph facilities. Mail daily. Wm. Root, postmaster.

D. A. ROSS & CO., LUMBER, LATH and SHINGLES, 70 Franklin Street, Detroit.

ROME CENTER.

(See Rome.)

ROMEO.

The principal town in Macomb county, is situated on the Michigan Air Line railway, 10 miles northeast of Rochester, 14 west of Ridgeway, and 40 north of Detroit. It is on the line between Bruce and Washington townships, in the northern part of the county, 20 miles from Mt. Clemens, the county seat. It claims a population of 3,000, and is located in a splendid farming region. Romeo has become well known to the sporting world through its annual and well-attended horse fairs, having here one of the very best half-mile tracks in the State. The public buildings consist of a Central Union and two primary school buildings (all of wood), and Methodist, Christian, Congregational, Episcopal, Baptist, and Lutheran churches. The Methodist church is one of the finest in the interior of the State, having cost some $40,000. The Romeo Observer is the only paper published here. The manufacturing interests include (in and close around the village) 5 flouring mills, 4 carriage factories, a planing mill, 3 foundries, a machine shop, and an agricultural implement factory. There are also 2 National banks. The leading shipments from Romeo consist of flour, grain, apples, carriages, potatoes, etc. The village was platted in 1824, incorporated in 1838, and secured an outlet by railroad in 1870. Telegraph, Western Union.

SAGINAW,

Or Saginaw City, as it is commonly called, is an incorporated city of 10,000 inhabitants, situated on the west bank of the Saginaw river, 18 miles above its mouth, and 2 above East Saginaw, which is on the opposite side of the river. It is the county seat of Saginaw county, and is the oldest city in the Saginaw valley, its history dating back to 1819, when Gen. Cass here negotiated an important treaty with the Chippewa Indians, by which a large tract was ceded to the government. Two years later a military post was established at this point. In 1822 Dr. Charles Little entered the land embracing the present site of the city, and a village was started. It was 1841 before a wagon road was opened to Detroit, and 20 years more before railroad communication was established. The principal growth of the city, however, has been since 1845, from which period the development of the whole Saginaw region has been rapid and substantial.

The city fronts on the river some 4 miles and has an average depth of 2 miles. A street railway connects it with East Saginaw and the river is crossed by three substantial swing bridges. Washington street, a fine avenue, extends from a point opposite East Eaginaw through the whole length of the city, parallel with the river. Between this street and the river are the hotels, stores, mills, and business places generally. On the other (the west) side, are situated the court house square and county buildings, most of the churches, school buildings and residences. The city has a splendid central school building, with five ward school houses, and a well organized public school system. The churches are, the German Lutheran, the Presbytherian, the Catholic, the Episcopal, the Methodist, the Baptist, the Reformed Lutheran, and a Free Church. The Taylor House, a first-class hotel, and a number of large and elegant brick business blocks are worthy of mention. Holly water works, erected at a cost of $100,000, supply the city with water. There is a Young Men's Christian Association and various Masonic and Odd Fellow's lodges, also two weekly newspapers, the Saginawian, democratic, and the Saginaw Valley News, republican. There are 2 banks (one National), some 8 or 10 large saw mills, and as many salt manufactories, a foundry and machine shop, a flouring mill, a boiler shop, a planing mill, a stave factory, a sash and door factory and various other manufacturing enterprises, more or less extensive. Saginaw has also an immense trade in furnishing supplies to the lumber regions north and west. Large lake vessels ascend the river to this point, and load at docks directly in the heart of the city.

The Saginaw division of the M. C. R. R. passes through the business portion of the place. The F. & P. M. Ry. runs within a short distance of its northern boundary and the S. V. & St. L. R. R. extending due west to St. Louis, where it connects with the C. S. & C., opens up an extensive region to the traffic of the city and will on the completion of the latter road to Howard City during the present year afford another outlet west. Distances, from Detroit, 100 miles; from Lansing, 64; from Jackson, 101; from Owosso, 36; from Grand Rapids, 115. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. James A. Hudson, postmaster.

ST. CHARLES.

A thriving incorporated village claiming 1000 inhabitants, on the Saginaw division of the M. C. R. R., in the township of St. Charles, Saginaw county, 14 miles south of Saginaw, 22 north of Owosso and 114 by rail from Detroit. It is located at the forks of Bad river, a tributary of the Shiawassee, and having direct access to a large section of pine country, is an eligible point for lumber manufacturing. It has 3 large saw mills, 1 shingle mill and stave factory, 3 churches, Adventist, Baptist and Methodist, and 2 schools. The country around St. Charles is low and flat and not desirable for farming purposes. It was settled in 1854 and incorporated in 1869. Lumber, staves, shingles and hoops are the principal shipments. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Mail daily. R. S. Case, postmaster.

ST. CLAIR.

Formerly the county seat of St. Clair county, is a beautifully located little city at the junction of the Pine with the St. Clair river, 12 miles below Port Huron. It is the eastern terminus of the Michigan, Midland and Canada railroad, which connects with the St. Clair division of the Canada Southern here. The village was laid out in 1828, when it was known as Palmer. It now has a population of about 2,000. The loss of the county seat a few years since, and the rapid growth of Port Huron, its successful rival in the long contest for the honors of being the shire town, together with the natural decline of lumbering interests, have somewhat dampened its former aspirations and materially checked its growth. The improvement of the agricultural interests surrounding the town, however, and its railroad connections, will, in part, if not fully, restore it in time to its former degree of prosperity. The old court house has been christened a city hall, and the old jail still serves the county in its former capacity. A fine Union school house and 6 churches, Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Baptist and Catholic, constitute the other public buildings of the city.

The manufacturing interests of St. Clair include a large saw mill, a woolen mill, a tannery, a shingle mill, 2 flouring mills, a foundry, a carriage factory, a hub and spoke factory, lately started, and several brick yards. There is one National bank, a weekly newspaper, the Republican, and an excellent public house, the City Hotel.

It has a daily mail. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, Canadian. Robert H. Jenks, postmaster.

ST. JAMES.

The county seat of Manitou county, a county made up from the scattering islands near the lower end of lake Michigan. St. James is a small village at the northern extremity of Beaver island, the largest of the group. It is about 40 miles due west of Mackinaw City, and 70 due north of Traverse City. It has but little trade, and only a small population.

ST. JOHN'S.

The county seat of Clinton county, is situated on the D. & M. R. R., in Bingham township, in the northern central part of the county. It has a population of about 2,200, and is 20 miles west of Owosso, 26 east of Ionia, and 98 northwest of Detroit. A fine fertile section of farming country surrounds the village, affording it a large mercantile traffic. The village is substantially built,

Culver, Page, Hoyne & Co., Counting House Stationers, Nos. 118 & 120 Monroe Street, Chicago.

chiefly of brick. The principal manufactures are furniture, hard and soft wood lumber, wooden ware, sash, doors and blinds, flour, leather, etc. The St. John's Manufacturing Company deals largely in furniture, lumber, etc., a speciality being Merchant's patent slides, and leaf supports for extension tables. There are 2 newspapers, 1 National bank, 6 churches, and one of the best court houses in the central part of the State. The principal hotel is the Perrin House. A stage leaves daily for Maple Rapids, 14 miles northwest, carrying mail and passengers. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Mail daily, east and west. G. A. Wells, postmaster.

ST. JOSEPH.

An important village of 3,000 or more inhabitants, is beautifully situated at the mouth of the St. Joseph river, on the shore of lake Michigan, in Benton township, Berrien county. It lies on a peninsula formed by the river, at an elevation of some 50 feet above the water level, rendering the location healthy and very attractive. St. Joseph is on the line of the C. & M. L. S. R. R., 27 miles north of New Buffalo, and 93 from Chicago by rail, or 62 by lake. The fruit region par excellance of Berrien county extends about 10 miles up and down the lake shore, and for 4 miles back into the country. Within this district small fruits never fail, and are grown in immense quantities. The peculiar location of this region, in its relation to the lake, adapts it also especially to peach culture. The temperature here rarely ever falls below 3° or 4° Fah. below zero, while peach buds will stand several degrees severer cold.

The manufacturing interests consist of 2 saw mills, 1 stave factory, 1 flouring mill, 1 excelsior factory, 1 planing mill, and 2 manufactories of fruit packages, the demand for the latter being very extensive. The public buildings consist of 8 churches, 2 Baptist, 1 Congregational, 1 Catholic, 1 Lutheran and 3 Methodist, one of which is colored, a fine public school building, and 2 good hotels. There are a number of handsome brick business blocks and private residences.

St. Joseph has a National bank, capital $50,000, 2 newspapers, the Herald and Traveler, and the Republican. The village was first settled in 1829, though the site had been occupied by French missionaries more than a century before. It was incorporated in 1834. A small side wheel steamer plies regularly between St. Joseph and Chicago, making daily trips. Numerous sail vessels

ST. LOUIS.

Is a flourishing incorporated village, having a population of about 2,000, situated in Bethany and Pine River townships, in the northern part of Gratiot county, 8 miles north of Ithaca, the county seat, 33 from Saginaw and 132 from Detroit. Pine river flows through the village, furnishing a moderate water power.

St Louis is the western terminus of the Saginaw Valley and St Louis R. R., and is the present eastern terminus of the Chicago, Saginaw & Canada R. R., which is completed and in operation between this point and Cedar Lake, 20 miles west The road is graded and will soon be ironed to Lake View, some 20 miles further. It will probably be completed to Howard City and connect with the G. R. & I. R. R., during the coming season, and will ultimately be pushed through to the Lake Shore at Grand Haven.

The manufactures of the place are a flour mill, a saw mill, a foundry and machine shop, a sash and door factory, a furniture factory and a shook and cooperage stock manufactory, all of which, exceping the last named, are run by water power. There are 4 churches, Baptist, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian. A good Union school, 3 hotels, 2 banks, a weekly newspaper the "Herald" and a mineral spring. Lumber, square timber, staves, heading, hoops and flour are the principal articles shipped. The place was first settled about 1850, and became incorporated in 1869. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Daily stage to Salt River and Mount Pleasant, also to Ithaca and St John's. George W. McHenry, postmaster.

SALINE.

Saline was first settled in 1824, being one of the oldest places in the interior. In 1864 it received a village charter, and now boasts 1,000 inhabitants. It is in Saline township, Washtenaw county, and on the Detroit, Hillsdale & Southwestern R. R., 11 miles southwest of Ypsilanti, 40 southwest of Detroit and 9 south of Ann Arbor. The Saline river, a tributary of the Raisin, furnishes water power. The manufactories comprise a foundry, 3 flouring mills and some minor industries. It contains 4 churches, Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran and Presbyterian, a large Union school building, a weekly newspaper, the Review, several good stores, and 2 or more hotels. Grain is the most important shipment. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. George B. Mason, postmaster.

90 from Chicago. The river here widens into a small lake forming one of the finest harbors on the eastern shore of lake Michigan. There is probably no town of its size in the State so largely engaged in the lake traffic as Saugatuck, 4 tugs, 2 propellors and 8 large vessels being owned here. It is surrounded by a rolling country possessing a light, sandy, loam soil admirably adapted to fruit culture. Peaches, apples, grapes and berries are cultivated. The village contains 2 tanneries, 1 saw mill, 1 planing mill and 1 sash and blind factory. Also Congregational, Episcopal and Reformed Dutch churches, a private bank and a weekly newspaper. Communication is had with Holland and Richmond daily by stage and by Capt. R. C. Billing's daily line of boats with Chicago. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Mail, daily. George T. SAULT DE STE MARIE.

The county seat of Chippewa county, an incorporated village of about 1500 inhabitants, situated on St. Mary's river, the outlet of lake Superior, abreast of the famous falls or rapids. It is about 350 miles from Detroit, and 170 east of Marquette. The great object of interest at the Sault is the ship canal, by means of which vessels overcome the rapids. This was completed in 1855, but the increasing trade with the Lake Superior country has already outgrown its capacity and a much more capacious lift lock is now being constructed alongside of the old canal. It is excavated in the solid rock, and will be arranged to receive two of the largest vessels and transfer them at one lift from the lower to the higher level, or vice versa. The old locks take but one vessel and two lifts are required. Both sets of locks will be employed.

Fort Brady is located just below the village, and here a small garrison is usually kept.

There is little or no manufacturing carried on here, though the unlimited water power offers rare advantages. On the Canadian side of the river, however, a large flouring mill has been erected, to be stocked with Minnesota wheat brought down from Duluth to be manufactured here for the eastern market. If this experiment proves successful it will doubtless be extended, and the Sault may in time rival Rochester N. Y., as the "flour city" of the Union. Two saw mills are the extent of its manufactures at present. It has 5 hotels, a number of stores, Catholic, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, and some other business and social interests. Lumber, furs and fish are shipped. Telegraph—Western Union. Mail semi-weekly, during summer, and tri-weekly, via Mackinaw, in the winter. Edward Ashmun, postmaster.

STANTON.

The county seat of Montcalm county. Is a flourishing incorporated village of 2000 inhabitants and the northern terminus of the Stanton branch of the D. L. & N. R. R. It is 22 miles north of Ionia, 62 northwest of Lansing and 147 from Detroit. The country surrounding Stanton is heavily timbered with pine, and lumber manufacturing is the chief interest of the place. There are in the village proper 4 shingle mills, 3 planing mills, 2 flouring mills, 1 saw mill and a foundry and machine shop. Besides these there are about 20 saw and shingle mills within a radius of 7 miles, all of which make Stanton their headquarters and shipping point. The place also contains 2 churches, Methodist, Baptist and Congregational, a bank, a weekly newspaper, the Times, a good Union school building, erected, January, 1885. Incorporated, 1889. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific. Express, American. Stage to Millbrook twice and to Elm Hall three times per week. Mail, daily. D. M. Gardner, postmaster.

TECUMSEH

Is a wealthy and flourishing village in the northeastern part of Lenawee county, on the Jackson branch of the L. S. & M. S. Ry, 67 miles from Detroit, via Manchester, and 38 from Jackson. The place was first settled in 1823, by Musgrove Evans, and was incorporated as a village in 1837. It was the county seat of Lenawee county from its first settlement until the year of its incorporation, when the seat of justice was removed to Adrian.

The country surrounding Tecumseh is one of the most fertile portions of the State, its rich soil and the undulating nature of the land renders it peculiarly well adapted for growing winter wheat, which is one of the principal productions. Fruits of various kinds are raised in large quantities, also many superior grades of horses and live stock. The town has two good hotels, and manufacturing is well represented. There are some 18 or 20 establishments of different kinds in operation, among which are 3 flouring mills, 2 agricultural implement factories, Culver, Page, Hoyne & Co., Publishers of Blanks and Books for Banks, Nos. 118 & 120 Monroe Street, Chicago.

2 planing mills, 2 carriage factories, a foundry and machine shop, a tannery, a handle factory, a paper mill, and several others of minor importance. A live weekly paper, the Herald, is published. The river Raisin, which runs south of the town, furnishes a never-failing water power. There is a stage line to Brooklyn 4 times per week; fare, $1.00.

The population of Tecumseh is about 2500. It has 6 churches, representing the Methodists, Baptists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Universalists, and Friends. There are 3 fine public ward schools and 1 public academy. The business portion of the village is compactly built, and contains several fine brick blocks. The merchants carry large stocks of goods and do a lucrative trade. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, United States. Edgar A. Tribou, postmaster.

THREE RIVERS.

The leading town in St. Joseph county, is a flourishing incorporated village of 4,000 inhabitants. It is located at the junction of the Portage, Rocky and St. Joseph rivers, hence the name. By improvements these streams have been made to afford one of the best water powers to be found in the country.

The town is located at the intersection of the Kalamazoo division of the L. S. & M. S. Ry. and the M. C. R. R. Air line, 12 miles north of White Pigeon and 25 south of Kalamazoo, 145 miles from Detroit and 127 from Chicago.

The principal manufacturing enterprises are 3 flouring mills, 2 foundries and machine shops, 1 pump factory, 1 saw mill, 1 sash and blind factory, 1 straw pulp mill, 1 paper mill, 1 plow factory, 1 soap factory, etc.

Flour, peppermint oil, fruits, pumps, farm implements, mill machinery, etc., are shipped.

Here, as in nearly every portion of southwestern Michigan, the quality of the soil is unsurpassed.

Three Rivers also has its mineral springs, said to possess medicinal properties calculated to restore the victims of rheumatism and dyspepsia to health again.

The public buildings consist of 1 good Union and 2 ward school buildings, giving employment to some 16 or 18 teachers, and 7 churches—Presbyterian, Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal, Lutheran, Baptist, Protestant Methodist and Reformed—several of which are very fine edifices. The Reporter and Herald furnish the local reading. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American and United States. John B. Handy, postmaster.

TRAVERSE CITY.

Is situated at the head of the west arm of Grand Traverse bay and at the mouth of the Boardman river, in the northwest part of Grand Traverse county, of which it is the seat of justice. The place was first settled in 1851, and it now contains about 1500 inhabitants. It is reached by both rail and water, and is distant from Detroit 269 miles, from Grand Rapids 140 miles and east from Frankfort on the shore of lake Michigan 38 miles. There are lines of stages diverging to Sherman, Elk Rapids, Northport, Old Mission, Glen Arbor, Maple City, Williamsburg, Frankfort and intermediate points. The manufacturing interests are 2 large saw mills, capacity 20,000,000 feet per annum, an extensive flouring mill, a foundry and machine shop, a planing mill and a spice factory. The churches are 4, Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal and Methodist. Two enterprising weekly newspapers are published, the Traverse Bay Eagle and the Grand Traverse Herald. There are five hotels, the Campbell House being the most popular. The U S land office for the Traverse City district is located here. The surrounding country which is rich and productive is fast becoming settled, and for fruit growing proves to be among the best in the United States, the apples and peaches from this district having taken the first premium at the late centennial exhibition.

UNION CITY.

Is situated at the junction of the St. Joseph and Coldwater rivers, in the township of Union, Branch county. It is a station on the Air line division of the M. C. R. R., 41 miles west of Jackson, and 117 west of Detroit. Union City is a thriving place of about 1,600 inhabitants, and for a village of its size, has a fair show of manufacturing enterprises. Among its industries are a foundry, machine shop and plow factory, employing 50 hands and turning out 100 plows a week, also 1 wool carding mill, 1 wooden bowl factory, 3 sash and door factories, 3 carriage shops, 2 flouring mills, 1 saw mill, 1 refrigerator manufactory, 1 stave factory, etc. The religious wants of the people are carefully looked after by the Congregationalists, Methodists and Episcopalians, each of whom have good edifices, the first being a very fine brick. A good weekly newspaper, the Register, is published by Maj. D. J. Easton. There are 3 hotels, 1 national bank, and a fine brick school building has recently been contracted for, cost to be about $20,000. Among the improvements of the past 2 years is a large carriage factory, a fireman's hall, a handsome brick block, a portion of which will be used for the second national bank, now about being organized, 2 or more stores, and about 50 dwellings. The surrounding country is not surpassed by any in Michigan, and every class of farm products is grown. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Jerome Bowen, postmaster.

WHITEHALL.

A flourishing incorporated village of 1500 inhabitants, is pleasantly situated on the east shore of White lake, a beautiful body of water 5 miles in length and varying from 1 to 2 miles in breadth, formed by a widening of White river near its mouth. This lake affords one of the best and safest harbors on the western shore, the channel having been made of sufficient depth to admit the largest steamers. The village contains 6 saw mills, 3 shingle mills and 1 planing mill, and there are some 20 other saw and shingle mills located at various points along the shore of the lake, the whole having a capacity of 100,000,000 feet of lumber, 75,000,000 shingles and 20,000,000 lath.

The C. & M. L. S. R. R. passes through the village, by which it is 15 miles north of Muskegon, 28 south of Pentwater, and 142 north of New Buffalo. It is 5 miles inland from lake Michigan, and is in Oceana township, in the northern part of Muskegon county. The place was platted in 1859 as Mears, by which name it was known until 1867, when it became incorporated as Whitehall. It has 5 or more churches, the denominations represented being Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Wesleyan and Episcopal Methodist, Catholic and Lutheran. A graded school, a bank, a weekly newspaper, The Forum, an extensive tannery and 2 good hotels are among the prominent interests. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American. Daily mail. Paul J. Hedges, postmaster.

YPSILANTI.

Lies on the Huron river and the M. C. R. R., 30 miles west of Detroit. It is in the township of Ypsilanti, in the eastern part of Washtenaw county, 8 miles east of Ann Arbor, the county seat. The D. H. & S. W. R. R. here diverges from the Michigan Central, connecting it with Hillsdale, Logansport and Indianapolis.

At an early day the present site of Ypsilanti was a popular trading ground with the Indians, and in 1811 a firm of French fur traders procured a grant of 2,500 acres at this point from the general government. It was 1823 before a road was cut through from Detroit to the location, and before any regular settlement was made. It was then called Woodruff's Grove. Two years later parties in Detroit bought out the interests here, and platting the village, named it in honor of the then famous Greek revolutionary leader, Ypsilanti. It was chartered as a village in 1832. In 1838 the Michigan Central was opened to it. In 1849 Ypsilanti secured the location there of the State Normal School, the consideration being the site and $13,500 in money. The city has since enjoyed a steady, healthy growth. The population is now claimed to be over 6,000.

Ypsilanti possesses a fine water power and this has given it great advantages for the manufacture of paper, a branch in which, it is stated, it is surpassed by but one or two other places in the entire country. There are three paper mills, having a united capacity of 15 tons per day. There is also a machine shop for the manufacture of paper mill machinery, several flour mills, a woolen factory, 3 sash, door and blind factories, an extensive carriage factory and a number of smaller manufacturing interests.

There is a national bank, capital $75,000, one private bank of large means, and 2 newspapers—the Commercial republican, and the Sentinel democratic. Besides the Normal School, Ypsilanti has a large union school and 8 churches, distributed among the Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal denominations. The city is lighted with gas and water works are talked of. In the distant future Ypsilanti looks forward to becoming the county seat of a new county to be carved out of the eastern tier of townships of Washtenaw and a considerable slice of Wayne county. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Clinton Spencer, postmaster.
